

Is Legal Funding Right for My Client?

Due to their complexity, trucking litigation cases often take a long time to resolve. Having to wait months or even years for a settlement or verdict can put a huge strain on your clients.

Some will want to use legal funding as a cash flow solution to keep them financially afloat while litigation is ongoing. While legal funding can certainly be a valuable resource, it's not always the best option.

To help you better advise your clients and assess whether or not legal funding is right for them, we've put together a lawsuit funding calculator (below is an image of the interface, to access the calculator, simply CLICK HERE).

